ST. JOHN NEUMANN
Catholic Church

April 22, 2026

Dear Families,

We are excited to share more details concerning Bishop Earl Fernandes' directive to move the Confirmation age to 4th grade for the Diocese of Columbus. This change reflects a need and desire for our young people to receive the Gifts of the Holy Spirit so they are able to grow in their identity as sons and daughters of God throughout their formative years.

We, at St. John Neumann, are in full support of this change and the reasoning behind it. We also understand that with change, finding the best pathway to implement this transition can be challenging. Through the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we developed a plan that will not only achieve the goal of moving the Confirmation age, but also fuel the Parish and Youth Ministry's mission of bringing people to a transformative encounter with Christ.

This strategy, which is shared by all of the parishes in our Deanery, will be a "stair-step" approach that gradually moves the Confirmation age down from 8th grade to 4th grade. We will begin this process this coming fall of 2026. Please reference the timeline below to see how this plan will progress:

- 2026-2027: Students in grades 7 and 8 will be confirmed (current 6th and 7th graders/ first year (students)).
- 2027-2028: Students in grades 6 and 7 will be confirmed (current 4th and 5th graders).
- 2028-2029: Students in grades 5 and 6 will be confirmed (current 2nd and 3rd graders).
- 2029-2030: Students in grades 4 and 5 will be confirmed (current KDG and 1st graders).

As parents, we understand you may have questions: we are ready to answer them as best we can. We truly feel blessed to walk alongside our families as we partner to pass on our faith to our children and at the same time, continue to walk and grow in our own faith journeys together.

More details, schedules, and information are available on our website for our families that will start this process in the fall. If you have questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to reach out to our Confirmation Coordinator, Sarah Gantz sgantz@st.johnneumann.org.

You are in my prayers,

Reverend Dan Dury
Shepherd, St. John Neumann

Guide Book & Directory Advertising Opportunity

We are in the process of updating our annual Guide Book & Directory for the church. This book will contain everything pertinent to our church: the various ministries, organizations, committees, activities, functions, and events plus a complete directory of all members.

This book is being provided and direct-mailed to each family at no cost to our church, and it is again being subsidized by local businesses that advertise. If you own or manage a business and would like to find out about advertising in our book, please call Jackie Sutton in the Parish Office.

Recent survey results by Guide Book Publishing show that 92.1% of families would rather patronize a Guide Book & Directory advertiser over a non-advertiser. It "will pay" to advertise in our new Guide Book & Directory.

Does our Church database have YOUR family membership record correct?

Do you want your record published? If you have not already informed the Parish Office about changes to your record, please let us know now so that the information in the Guide Book & Directory is correct.

SJN OUTREACH

Help Rewrite a Future:
Volunteer in Our Jail Ministry Program

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

"The best way to predict the future is to create it."

Many individuals in Delaware County Jail are seeking a new beginning but lack the skills needed to succeed after incarceration. You can provide the coaching and spiritual guidance that would help them lead a more purposeful life when released and change the trajectory of their life.

We are seeking volunteers who will:

- Visit the jail to teach topics such as job skills, relationships, and life skills.
- Lead a Bible study to empower inmates returning to the community.
- Start by being a helper to an experienced minister, and you would be given resources to help you present a topic.

No prior experience is necessary—just a willingness to share your knowledge and care.

Ready to make a real difference?
Contact Chuck Nell at 740-815-7130
for more information.

THANK YOU FROM PREGNANCY RESOURCES OF DELAWARE COUNTY

"Pregnancy Resources of Delaware County (PRDC) gratefully thanks St. John Neumann Catholic Church for its generous "Loaves and Fishes" donation. Thousands of dollars in gift cards have provided vital, practical support to the families we serve. We deeply appreciate your compassion and partnership."

MARCH OUTREACH TOTALS

The total amount received for March was $19,996.

Thank you for your generous gifts supporting outreach to the poor through the blue envelopes and WeShare. Through your generosity, St. Vincent de Paul was able to assist several individuals and families in need. In addition, the Good Samaritan Ministry awarded grants to two parishioners — one to support the Corporal Works of Mercy and another to address needs related to the Spiritual Works of Mercy.

Little Liturgical Lessons

On Sacred Fire, Holy Water, and Why We Use Them

By Paul Stokell, Adult Formation Director

Fire and water stand among the ancient and evocative symbols of the Christian liturgical imagination. Nowhere is this more apparent than in the Easter Vigil, the “mother of all vigils,” where the Church gathers in darkness to witness creation renewed through the flame and the Font. These elements are not theatrical excess but real sacramental pedagogy: the Church takes the raw materials of creation and, through ritual, reveals them as instruments of divine action. As the General Instruction of the Roman Missal reminds us, the liturgy “makes use of signs perceptible to the senses” so that the mysteries of salvation may be grasped more deeply (GIRM 5). Fire and water, with their beauty and danger, serve this purpose with singular force.

The Vigil begins with fire—sometimes a modest flame in a metal bowl, or a roaring blaze that threatens to singe vestments and eyebrows alike! Liturgists often repeat the maxim: if a symbol is worth using, it is worth using boldly. Fire demands such boldness; it’s never neutral. It warms or destroys, illuminates or consumes. Its ambivalence is precisely what makes it a fitting sign of the God who is merciful and awe-inspiring.

Scripture consistently presents fire as a point of divine presence. In Exodus, God leads Israel through the wilderness as a “pillar of fire by night” (13:21), a manifestation at once protective and fearsome. The same fire that enlightens Israel terrifies Pharaoh’s army. Christian liturgy inherits this. The Easter Fire is not a quaint prelude to the liturgy but an encounter with the God who creates, commands, and transforms the elements.

From this fire the Paschal Candle is lit—the great “pillar of fire” that will lead the assembly through fifty days of Easter and the baptisms and funerals throughout the year. The GIRM notes that the Paschal Candle is to be “the preeminent candle” of the liturgical year, its flame a sign of the risen Christ dispelling the darkness of sin and death (cf. 31, 82). When the assembly holds small taper candles lit from the Paschal Candle, the symbolism isn’t merely communal but telling of our new purpose in the world: the baptized share in Christ’s light, bearing it everywhere.

If fire marks the beginning of the Vigil, water marks its center. The blessing of the baptismal font is one of the most ancient and theologically rich rites of Christian tradition. The font, drained and refilled with ordinary water, becomes through prayer and ritual action the womb of the Church. The repeated lowering of the Paschal Candle into the water—an action with roots in pre-Christian Roman fertility rites—expresses a profound sacramental truth: the risen Christ, symbolized by the candle, sanctifies the waters so that they may become the place where the old self dies and the new self rises (cf. Rom 6:3–11).

“the risen Christ, symbolized by the candle, sanctifies the waters so that they may become the place where the old self dies and the new self rises”

The Church emphasizes the centrality of water in the rites of initiation, noting that the font should be constructed and placed in a way that “clearly expresses the truth of the sacrament” (GIRM 294). Historically, this was expressed in architecture. Early Christian baptisteries were often located at the entrance of the church, reminding the faithful that baptism is the gateway to ecclesial life. Medieval fonts took the shape of coffins, emphasizing death to sin, or wombs, emphasizing rebirth. Contemporary fonts (like our own), frequently octagonal, evoke the “eighth day” of creation—the eschatological telling (from Greek eschaton, “last days”) of Christ’s return, and the new creation.

Water, like fire, is ambivalent. It liberates Israel through the parted sea, and overwhelms Pharaoh’s chariots. It cleanses, but it also destroys. Our liturgy does not sanitize this; it embraces it. Baptism is both cleansing and destructive, both death and life. (Ask any liturgist how much water you need to baptize, and the reply will be the same—“Enough to drown in.”) The Vigil’s blessing of water, with its sweeping retelling of salvation history, makes this clear: the God who created water, who parted it, who walked upon it, now uses it to graft believers into Christ.

Fire and water reveal a deeper theological principle: the liturgy is a site of co-creation. God alone creates and commands the elements, yet the Church, through ritual, participates in their transformation. When the Assembly kindles fire or blesses water, it does not manipulate nature but cooperates with grace. The elements remain themselves—fire still burns, water still flows—but they become transparent to divine action.

This is not optional ornamentation but a vital part of sacramental life. The GIRM teaches that the liturgy is the exercise of Christ’s Priestly office, enacted through signs that engage the whole person (GIRM 1–2). Fire and water draw the faithful into this mystery with a power few other symbols can match. They are not mere ritual props but theological proclamations. Through them, the Church announces that creation itself participates in salvation. Fire illumines the night; water births new life. When liturgy is done well, they reveal the God who makes all things new.

If you have questions about how the Mass is celebrated (in this parish or elsewhere), or about any of the other Sacraments, send them to pstokell@stjohnsunbury.org!
