October Community Night Recap

Our most recent Community Night was held on Tuesday, October 28, beginning with Mass at 6:00 PM, followed by pizza and activities in the FFC. The evening focused on praying for the dead.

Families created cards and notes to loved ones who have passed, which were placed in luminary bags lining the path to the church. Afterward, everyone gathered in the church, where families were invited to speak the names of their departed loved ones, and Father Dury led a decade of the Rosary.

Christmas Angels

Annual Christmas Angel Project

The Annual Christmas Angel Project, sponsored by the Good Samaritan Ministry, offers our parishioners a meaningful way to support families and individuals in need during the holiday season. This is a wonderful opportunity for our parish family to lend a helping hand.

Requesting Assistance

If you or someone you know needs assistance in the form of gift cards for food, Christmas presents, household items, or gas, please visit the Christmas Angel Display on the counter in the vestibule between the church and the walkway. There, you can complete the form titled "Do You or Someone You Know Need a Christmas Angel?"

We encourage you to help those in need by inviting them to participate or by offering to complete the form on their behalf. Once completed, please place the form in the provided envelope and deposit it in the white drop box located on the wall outside the Parish Office.

All requests must be submitted by December 2, 2025.

Becoming a Christmas Angel

If you'd like to be a Christmas Angel, please provide gift cards from Kroger, Walmart, Aldi, Meijer, Kohl's, Target, or Visa/Mastercard/gas cards. Place them in the provided envelope found in the vestibule, write the gift card amount on the card, and include your name and address. Drop the envelope in the white drop box outside the Parish Office.

All gift cards must be submitted by December 2, 2025, so we can ensure timely delivery to the individuals and families.

The Great American Catholic Workout: Sit, Stand, Kneel, Repeat

By Paul Stokell

"The Mass is not an occasion for individual expressions or flourishes, but for collective participation."

If you have questions about how the Mass is celebrated (in this parish or elsewhere), or about any of the other Sacraments, send them to pstokell@stjohnsunbury.org!

People talk about all the postures and gestures we use in the liturgy. We worship with our hearts and minds, of course, but also with our bodies. Our Jewish forebears did as much, as seen throughout the Old Testament. Most of us encounter these at Mass, but we might think very little of it. It happens at other Sacramental celebrations as well...think of what unique things you see during Confession, or what's done during a wedding or an ordination. These have a "body language" with its own sources, meanings and importance, and with time and practice we assemble our own "dictionary" of ritual gestures, with their meanings and use. What does the larger Church do to govern them? Which ones are "mandatory" and which ones are merely "devotional practices" of members of the Assembly? It's more surprising than you think!

Our heritage of worship lasting over 2,000 years is brought into sharp focus by two recent things: the Second Vatican Council (1962-65) and its simplification of worship after nearly four centuries - along with its call for "active participation" - and the Roman Missal, Third Edition (2010), which is that big red book you see on the Altar at Mass. The "public work" of clergy and laypeople alike brings us in unity with our brothers and sisters all over the world. Still, unity is never meant to imply uniformity, and there are plenty of options used in some places, but not everywhere.

One example: the Catholic bishops in the U.S.A. asked Rome for permission for the faithful to kneel during the entire Eucharistic Prayer, from the Sanctus ("Holy, Holy, Holy") to the Final Doxology ("Through Him", etc.) as opposed to what's done elsewhere in the world, where the faithful usually stand or sit. The General Instruction to the Roman Missal (the text in the front of that big red book) states that kneeling is done this way "in the dioceses of the United States" (43). A look at a Mass in Canada shows the difference - our northern neighbors kneel at the Sanctus and stay kneeling through the Words of Consecration ("This is my Body," etc.), but after the Memorial Acclamation (We proclaim..., etc.) they stand and remain that way until everyone has received Communion. In fact, some American dioceses choose this option, and it's all in accordance with Rome. Sharp-eyed visitors to churches throughout Europe and Latin America will notice differences such as these.

Another in the last few decades, is an innovation (not in the Missal) that has happened in some parishes - the crossing of the arms of those in a Communion line who cannot receive the Eucharist for some reason, expecting a blessing at the end of the line. Why ask for a blessing from a Communion Minister (who, if a lay person, isn't permitted to give public blessings) when everyone will get a perfectly legitimate blessing at the Dismissal by the celebrant priest, at the very end of Mass? The origin is surprising: a well-meaning priest or liturgist wanted to prevent non-communicants from being awkwardly "passed over" by others in pews. To make things more awkward, though, the seemingly "penitential" gesture of crossed arms is in fact the normal gesture in the Eastern Rites of the Church, as well as those who are Orthodox! Sometimes what appears to be a simple solution to an issue yields a more complex issue. Of course, there's an easier fix - if you can't (yet) receive Jesus in Communion, simply walk to the end of your pew, let people pass into the Communion line and then return to your seat.

If you do find yourself at a Catholic Mass where postures and gestures differ from "back at home," it's best to follow one of the governing "principles of liturgy" - used as a guide for "keeping the main thing the main thing" in Catholic worship - namely, the principle of unity in the assembly, otherwise known as "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

The Mass is not an occasion for individual expressions or flourishes, but for collective participation. While well-intentioned, personal gestures can risk a break in the unity and focus of the liturgy. By learning the norms of our particular (that is, parish) Church, we demonstrate an openness to the humility and discipline needed to allow the liturgy to serve its purpose - our glorification of God, service to others, and strengthening our unity as the Body of Christ. Amen!
